

Do your third-party vendors know how to keep your data safe?

Supply chain disruption can happen in an instant. All it takes is one click from an unaware third-party vendor. Include engaging cyber security training in your third-party risk management and see how easy it is to protect your data from breaches.

98% of organizations worldwide are connected to breached third-party vendors.

The top 2%? They're not "lucky," they're just equipped with robust third-party risk management (TPRM).

Get a comprehensive TPRM that has a cyber security awareness training aspect. Without this, third-party contractors, suppliers, or vendors may leave sensitive information vulnerable to hackers.
